

JULIE GLAZE HOULIHAN
Music Supervisor & Music Editor

A music supervisor since 1998, Julie began editing her song pitches to picture, and developed into a union Music Editor by 2011. She often performs both jobs on a project, but also enjoys collaborating in one role or the other. Recent projects include A League of Their Own, Glass Onion: A Knives Out Mystery, A.P. Bio (NBC), The Real O'Neals (ABC), Santa Clarita Diet (Netflix), Last Black Man in San Francisco (A24/Plan B), Homeroom (Hulu), OJ: Made in America (ESPN), and music documentaries Hired Gun, The Wrecking Crew! and Who You Gonna Call? (Sony Pictures Television).

With a degree in Music/Vocal Performance from Southern Methodist University, Julie began her film music career as a music assistant at New Line Cinema and has also worked in creative roles at MCA/Universal Music Publishing and Warner Bros. Television. She has broad experience with on-camera performances, pre-records, Union issues, clearance, budgeting, mixing, ProTools and post-production.

Julie is a founding member of The Guild of Music Supervisors, and a member of the Motion Picture Editors Guild, The Television Academy, and SAG. She leads the parent group for Jazz at Hamilton High School Academy of Music & Performing Arts (AMPA) and served six years as President of the board for Walter Reed Middle School's music program, both LAUSD schools.

Julie was recently nominated by the Guild of Music Supervisors for Best Song Written and/or Recorded for Television for Homeroom, and won Best Music Supervision in a Documentary in 2016 for her work on The Wrecking Crew!.
